This is not your batting order, this is a suggested fielding rotation.
 Use this rotation for the entire season to "develop" all your players
 If you have players missing, Bull Pen #1 is the first person off the bench.
 This eliminates players constantly asking, "Can I pitch next inning?"
 This will speed the game up ...having your catcher and pitcher ready.

This rotation alternates players from "infield" to "outfield"
 Everyone gets equal opportunity to learn each position
 Over the season ...things will even out, and everyone will become a better player
 And ...it eliminates parents wondering if you are taking care of their child.
 It makes it more fun for everyone, ...no "kidding less developed players".

Once you assign your players to their rotation spot, resort the list to reflect your batting order. You can use this same list all season, just note the inning your game ends in and and restart the next game in the next inning. The parents and kids will quickly appreciate this system. Also, you only need one of these schedules so delete the other one so your page works better.
